

Academy sponsoring 5K event

The Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy and the Rankin County Kiwanis Club are sponsoring a 5,000 meter (3.1 miles) cross country run to be held on Saturday.

In addition to the 5K run, beginning at 8 a.m., a one mile "fun run" will be offered and will start at 8:15 a.m.

"All walkers, runners and joggers are invited to participate in the event which will cover the 243 acres of the academy," said Capt. Monty Eaves, training officer for the Department of Public Safety.

"The race will be run entirely on grass in a circular loop on the grounds of the academy. The course will include rolling terrain with ditches and other obstacles along the scenic route," said Eaves.

The race will begin and end in front of the academy's administration building on State Highway 468 east of Whitfield, near Pearl.

The entry fee for the race is $10 and should be paid on the day of the race.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place winners in the overall law enforcement officer and law enforcement team categories and the first place winners in each age group.

Grand prize trophies will be given to the overall male and female winners. Second, and third place winners in each age group will be awarded ribbons. The first male and female overall winners in the fun run will also receive prizes.

Fresh fruit and Gator-Aid will be available at the finish line for all participants.

New bridge dedication

Ribbon cutting ceremonies to dedicate the new Natchez-Vidalia Mississippi River Bridge are scheduled for Tuesday, June 21, at 10 a.m., according to John R. Tabb, director of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

The ceremonies are being sponsored by the Natchez-Adams County Chamber of Commerce.

The new bridge will carry two-way traffic for a short period of time while rehabilitation measures are taken on the older structure. Major work scheduled for the old bridge will be to resurface the concrete deck to enhance skid resistance.

Upon completion of the rehabilitation work, each of the two bridges will serve to carry one way traffic. West bound traffic will use the original bridge while the new one will handle east bound.

As prearranged between the two connecting states, the Louisiana Department of Transportation and Development is co-owner and will assume maintenance of the bridge upon completion.

The construction contract was awarded to two contractors, Taylor Brothers, Inc. of Evansville, Ind., and Louisiana Paving Co., Inc. at a total cost of $47,060,032. Eighty percent of this cost was funded by federal aid with the understanding that Mississippi and Louisiana would share the burden of the remaining 20 percent.

The new bridge is approximately 1.6 miles in total length and is constructed along a line parallel to and 10 feet downstream from the original bridge. It was constructed in a similar style to that of the existing structure, which is a cantilever through truss.

The public is invited to join in the ceremonies.

Saturday will be a big day for the residents of the City of Waveland with a Founder's Day Picnic at Buccaneer State Park.

The big picnic is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. and will be an old-fashioned celebration, according to Mayor John Longo.

The picnic is part of Waveland's Centennial activities for residents, along with neighbors and friends, and a very large crowd is expected for the gala event.

I am planning on attending the picnic since I am a native of Waveland and can remember the many fine times my three brothers and I had growing up there.

The residents of Waveland began Centennial festivities several months ago and will continue through a finale on Saturday, October 15.

There will be all types of games and contests at Saturday's picnic. I understand some extra large sacks had to be ordered for some of the contestants in the sack races.

I can remember the days when my brothers and I would make our own kites and have to retrieve them at times from a tall pine or oak tree.

Picnic goers may bring their own lunch or they will be able to purchase hot dogs, hamburgers and barbecued beef and pork.

The picnic is free and there will also be music for entertainment.

We hope to see you at the picnic Saturday.

A new organization was formed in Hancock County some four months ago by several concerned law officers.

The name of the organization is The Hancock County Lawmen's Association and consists of persons with a commission and those who deal with enforcement of the law.

Presently the association has over 100 members and the primary goal is to help law enforcement officers and their families in time of need.

Albert Biehl is president of the group and he said another aim is to improve benefits for law officers.

Another avenue of service to the community will be the help to non-profit organizations in fundraisers.

On Saturday night the association will sponsor 'The Real' Dan McKay and the Oldies Mobile. The dance will be at the Hancock County Fairgrounds and is scheduled from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with songs from the 50's and 60's.

Tickets are $5 each at the door, Biehl said, and members of the organization are hoping to have a large turnout for the big dance.

The Hancock County Recreation Association will hold a Grand Opening Open House on Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Valenea C. Jones Gym, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis.

The association will present a brief overview of the Summer and Fall recreation program planned for Hancock County.

There will be entertainment, refreshments and registration information available at Friday's session.

The association consists of a group of volunteers who are planning many different activites for youth of our county.

There is a wide variety of programs and activities planned, so we hope many parents will attend the organization's Grand Opening so they can check out the programs offered.

In Congress

By Congressman Trent Lott

OBESITY OF POWER

The House of Representatives has quite evolved from the democratic revolution of the '70s to the autocratic counter-revolution of the '80s. The reality of this counter-revolution is masked by the preservation of the trappings of the revolution: the multiplication of semi-autonomous subcommittees and staff, shared legislative powers, and party caucus policy-making mechanisms.

Who can forget the redundant rallying cry of the reformers in the late '80s: "Participatory democracy"? Yet today, there is less real participation and democracy in the House than there was a decade ago.

The excesses of the House reform revolution proved that when everybody is given a piece of the action, nobody has any real power. There was an attempt to pull things back together through more centralized party leadership. But, instead of trimming the excesses, they were retained to soothe the nominal power holders. Instead of working through a new, streamlined system, the majority leadership chose to work around the existing, unwieldy system.

The House is spending more money on more staff for more subcommittees of committees that are holding fewer hearings and reporting fewer bills subject to more Budget Act exemptions and fewer amendments.

Not only is Congress exempting itself from its own budget process ceilings, deadlines, and requirements, it continues to exempt itself from many of the substantive laws it imposes on the rest of the country - laws covering such important areas as health, safety, and civil rights.

As a member of the Rules Committee, I have become increasingly distressed by all the ways that the House has been straying from the sound and normal standard or condition. The proper reference for this is operating outside the normal legislative process, or setting aside the regular order. I call it playing out of bounds.

Thomas Jefferson said that to preserve order, decency, and regularity in a dignified public body, "there must be a uniformity of proceeding in business, not subject to the caprice of the Speaker."

I'm not sure Jefferson would approve of or even recognize the House we work in today.

Mr. Speaker, changes are in order.

Governor's Column

By Gov. Ray Mabus

Last week I wrote that too much taxpayers' money was being wasted, and too much corruption was taking place because of the system of government used in most Mississippi counties.

I said I would call a special session this summer so that the Legislature can complete efforts it started earlier this year to change to a better system—the unit system of government.

This week, I want to address some commonly asked questions about the unit system of government. But first, let me briefly define the unit system of government and the "beat system," which currently is used in most counties.

The unit system calls for centralizing most county functions. Instead of having five separate road maintenance and construction operations—where you have a duplication of equipment and manpower—there would be one centralized road system under the unit system.

Instead of each supervisor purchasing his own goods and services, purchasing would be done on a countywide basis to ensure that taxpayers get the best deal for their money.

Instead of having supervisors act as both the legislative and executive branches of government—which is different to the way government works at almost every other level—they would serve as policy makers. The day-to-day operation of the county would be handled by a centralized staff that works under the supervisors.

One common question is, "Will the services I receive be as good under the unit system?"

I believe the services you receive will be better. One of the best ways to improve services is to provide more money, and that's exactly what the unit system should do because it can do the same amount of work for less, saving the county money.

It has been estimated that about $30 million a year could be saved statewide by going to the unit system. That's $30 million that could be used to improve roads or anything else.

Another common question is, "Can small counties afford the unit system?"

I support a unit system bill that will be flexible enough to work in all counties. The bill will permit small counties to use existing county personnel to fill positions necessary for the unit system to work. The unit system is already working well in counties as small as Coahoma and Leflore counties, and those as big as Hinds County.

I have often been asked, "What will supervisors do if the unit system of government is required?"

Supervisors' ability to govern the county will not decrease. They will continue to pass the budget, develop plans and policies, and levy taxes. The supervisors will oversee county employees to make sure the budget, plans and policies are implemented.

Supervisors would have more time to address other county programs ranging from economic development, public safety, recreation and education to conservation, sanitation and health and welfare.

In closing, I want to point out that the unit system of government is by far the most common form of the government used by counties across the country, according to the National Organization of Counties.

It is a system of government whose time has come, and I urge your support as we work to pass it in the Legislature.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Supports Oliver North's plea for assistance

June 12, 1988
Letters to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,
Lt. Col. Oliver North will go on trial in Washington for his alleged coverup, etc. in the Iran-Contra affair.

Thousands of patriotic Americans like myself are sending letters or a postcard to President Ronald Reagan c/o The White House, Washington, D.C., asking that Oliver North be pardoned.

I hope all service organizations will come forward to help a former comrade-in-arms.

I am enclosing a letter from Col. North that is self-explanatory. I sincerely beg you to print it.

It is my opinion that a great injustice is being done to Col. North and we, the people, must rise up and do everything we can to help him.

Respectfully,
Nina S. Garcia
Waveland

Ms. Nina S. Garcia
2318 Ladner St.
Waveland, MS 39576

Dear Ms. Garcia:

Your support and encouragement have meant so much to me and my family throughout this long ordeal in Washington. I will never forget the spontaneous response from you and others around the country since the Congressional hearings last summer. I hope you received my thank you note.

It was my hope that the craziness in Washington would end by now. It has not. My indictment by an unconstitutional prosecutor with an unlimited budget, a staff of 30 attorneys, 50 investigators and scores of support personnel poses a formidable challenge. The charges he has made are based on ridiculous legal theories and ignore the foreign policy concerns and the national security interests of the United States.

If you are able to assist, please make your check payable to: North Defense Trust and mail to: P.O. Box 96577, Washington, D.C. 20090.

While I do not fear the outcome, the months ahead will be long and difficult. Fighting back is a formidable task for me and my counsel. Nonetheless, you can be assured I will fight. I will never give up, and we will win.

Your prayers, encouragement, concern and support have enabled my family and me to endure these difficult times. You showed me that the American people appreciate what we did accomplish and what we tried to achieve.

Thank you, again, and God bless you.

Sincerely,
Oliver L. North

Controversy continues over traffic signals at Washington-Chapman intersection

Dear Editor,

I recently attended a board of supervisors meeting on June 6 at which I presented a petition of 156 names from around this area to have the four-way stop signs removed permanently from Washington Road and Chapman Road.

The people who signed the petition and said they were appalled by the stop signs because the people coming out of Garden Isles Subdivision did not stop.

They felt the stop signs on Washington Road were more of a hazard being up than not being there.

But when I presented the petition, I was told by Mike Ladner, the supervisor for Beat Five, that he was not showing partiality. I leave this to the people of Beat Five.

Mike Ladner received a petition of 107 names from Garden Isle Subdivision to have the four-way stop signs put back.

I would like to know just how many of the 107 names on this petition are duly registered Hancock County voters?

I was always under the impression under the law that the majority of the people ruled, but not in this case.

It has taken 107 names to have them put up, but 156 names could not remove them.

If the supervisors were looking out for our safety, they would have them removed. I years. Since graduating from the Naval Academy, my goal was to serve our country as a Marine for as long as possible.

Unfortunately, the indictment places me in a situation where my continued service would be inconsistent with fighting these unfounded charges. My counsel, Brendan Sullivan, will continue to represent me in these proceedings, as he did at the Congressional hearings.

I am absolutely confident that I will eventually be exonerated, but I have two great and immediate concerns. First, the cost of a long legal fight against the prosecutor and his limitless resources is enormous and well beyond my ability to finance.

Second, I am very concerned about the safety of my family. At one time they were protected by a large contingent of government agents due to the fear they could be victims of a terrorist act. Protection is no longer provided by the government and must be privately financed.

Some organizations have solicited funds in my name to aid in various causes—but none were authorized by me. This is the first time I have ever asked for assistance. You helped me before without being asked.

If you are able to make a further contribution (not tax deductible), I will be forever grateful because I know that anything you give means a sacrifice for you.

Any funds received will be deposited in a trust fund established under the law of the District of Columbia and supervised by three trustees of absolute integrity. The purpose of the trust is to defray legal costs and provide for the personal safety of my family.

If you are able to assist, please make your check payable to: North Defense Trust and mail to: P.O. Box 96577, Washington, D.C. 20090.

While I do not fear the outcome, the months ahead will be long and difficult. Fighting back is a formidable task for me and my counsel. Nonetheless, you can be assured I will fight. I will never give up, and we will win.

Your prayers, encouragement, concern and support have enabled my family and me to endure these difficult times. You showed me that the American people appreciate what we did accomplish and what we tried to achieve.

Thank you, again, and God bless you.

Sincerely,
Oliver L. North

repeat, Washington Road does not need a four-way stop sign.

The caution light will serve as a warning of the stop signs on Chapman Road.

Maybe, just maybe, the residents of Garden Isles Subdivision will know why the stop signs are on Chapman Road, for them to stop, as the signs read "Stop."

I do hope all the people in Beat Five read this letter, so they can understand how our supervisors work.

The caution light will serve the purpose it is intended for.

I certainly hope the Garden Isles Subdivision people understand what it is for.

I have lived all my life out here on this road, I do know what I'm talking about.

Faye LaFontaine

Bay St. Louis

P.S. When the four-way stop signs were first put up, I went before the board of supervisors and asked them to reconsider their decision and please have them removed.

Then the board of supervisors put up a street monitor on Washington and Chapman.

They removed the four-way stop signs on Washington, because the monitor proved there was too much traffic on Washington Road.

Then Mike Ladner took it upon himself and put the stop signs back. After he received the 107 names on a petition from Garden Isles Subdivision.

Recreation Association to host open house Friday

Grand Opening of the Hancock County Recreation Association at the Valena C. Jones complex is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 17.

The Recreation Association took form under the direction of the Waveland Civic Association, Clermont Harbor Civic Association and interested citizens.

"For many years the county has suffered for lack of quality recreation that would benefit youth and adults," said Herta Smith of Bay St. Louis, program director.

Recreation in the county has been viewed primarily as softball, soccer, baseball or basketball—unfortunately, the residents of the county have not had access to supervised recreational activities that are suited to them until now, she continued.

"The Hancock County Recreation Association has activities for youth beginning at age four up to senior who may want to participate in art, music, dance, aerobics, weightlifting, table tennis and board games, i.e., checkers, chess, and dominoes," Smith noted.

Registration fee is $2. A membership card will be issued to each member and is renewable on a yearly basis.

The initial program will be located at the Valena C. Jones complex, but the association plans to have community centers in locations throughout the county.

The association has scheduled additional registration and open house for June 17. On the program will be demonstrations by the aerobic and dance instructors, an art exhibit, and a U.S. Customs Canine Enforcement demonstration by Supervisory Canine Enforcement Officer Joseph Valencic and his dog Bentley.

Refreshments will be served, compliments of Ruth's Bakery.

"Don't miss this exciting beginning of a recreation program designed to accommodate everyone," Smith stated.

On Friday, June 24, Power 108 Radio personality Reverend Redd will DJ the first teen night. He will give away albums and T-shirts supplied by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company. Admission to the Power 108 Disco is $3.

The HCRA has received support from Coast Electric Power Association, The Downtown

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION, THE JAYCEES and other organizations.

Anyone interested in assisting in any capacity is encouraged to call 467-0470.

Ms. Smith states programs are geared to all county residents. "Economic status, race, or sex need not be a barrier or concern for the participation in this program."

"The purpose of this recreation movement is to liberate the power of expression of people and communities, to help men, women and children set forth in sports, drama, art, music and other forms of play, what they have been trying to say all along and could not be expressed within the confines of their work," Smith explained.

Classes and sports programs are scheduled to begin on Saturday, June 18.

"If you have not registered for these programs, it is not too late. Come to the open house on Friday and get a feel for this low cost, self supporting, highly energetic and innovative form of recreation," she said.

"So many of our children throughout the county have no place to go, nothing to do during the summer and after school, the HCRA can and will bridge that gap. Won't you join us? All we need is you," Smith added.

Lucedale judge announces for commissioner

Lucedale Judge Sidney Barnett has announced his candidacy for Southern District highway commissioner.

In announcing his candidacy for the office, the 48-year-old Barnett called for an end to "the boss system of politics that still exists in what is acknowledged to be one of the state's most powerful offices."

"I believe it's time to topple the empire," Barnett said.

"Let's devise a plan to change our Highway Commission, so that we never again have to face the problems that result from power that goes unchecked," he stated.

Barnett said he does not favor abolishing the office altogether. He also does not favor replacing elected officials with appointed ones.

"I'm not in favor of getting rid of the job," he said. "What I am in favor of is ridding the office of absolute power—the kind that corrupts."

Barnett said that while a lot has been said about the beat system of county government, nobody has taken a hard look at the biggest beat system in the state—the Highway Commission.

"Commissioners are often involved in every aspect of the department, from purchasing to paving."

"A commissioner has no business being directly involved in all of these areas," said Barnett. "He should basically be an administrator, a policy maker, and let the professionals—the engineers and planners who work in the Highway Department's Southern District—do the job we pay them to do."

Barnett said his previous experience as an administrator at Ingalls qualifies him to implement reform measures.

JUDGE SIDNEY BARNETT

He has served two terms as a county prosecutor and is currently municipal judge.

Barnett was born in Jasper County and reared in Lucedale.

He is a graduate of Perkinston, USM and Jackson School of Law.

An experienced administrator and former school teacher, Barnett served as county attorney for 12 years before serving as county prosecutor. He became a municipal judge in 1986.

A member of the First United Methodist Church, Barnett is a Rotarian, Mason and Shriner.

He is married to the former Donyce Briscoe of Moss Point. The Barnetts have one daughter, Jennifer, 17.

The gestation of Father's Day: The brainchild of one devoted daughter Mrs. Dodd had a great idea in 1910—Father's Day! Well, 1909 to be exact. That's when the idea of Father's Day, to celebrate the dedication of her own father, and all other American dads, came to her.

But good ideas take time to gestate. And it took a year till Father's Day was born—on the third Sunday of June, 1910.

Mrs. Dodd had wanted the first Father's Day to be on her own father's birthday, which in that year was the first Sunday of June.

But fate intervened—the local ministry failed to document their sermons in time—so the first observance was put off till the third Sunday of the month, a time niche that has been enshrined forever as a national holiday, by Joint Congressional Resolution in 1916.

And, Mrs. John Bruce (Sonora) Dodd had good reason for her concept. She was a product of the Far West, a child of the turn of the century.

She was reared, along with five brothers, by a loving and dedicated father, after her mother died. William Smart was a Civil War vet, and one who understood the meaning of family responsibility and cohesiveness.

So, from a small beginning in the churches of Spokane, was wrought a national and international event, with implications for all mankind.

Today, Father's Day is observed in almost 80 nations around the world—in North America, in Europe, in Africa, in the Orient and in Australia.

In the United States, more than nine out of 10 Americans observe Father's Day, a 24-hour span devoted to the man-around-the-house, out of gratitude for his caring and sharing, and in the spirit of good fun that characterizes all Father's Day events.

Father's Day has become a popular holiday because our families willed its popular acceptance. We don't take to a new holiday unless we think it best for our culture.

Thanks to Mrs. Dodd's idea and perseverance, thanks to the Ministerial Association of Spokane, and thanks to the good offices of the Spokane YMCA, the Mayor of Spokane and the other civic organizations which banded together to back Mrs. Dodd, we have our Father's Day!

Early on, the new Father's Day caught the attention of national leaders—William Jennings Bryan, the great populist of the late 19th and early 20th century, and President Woodrow Wilson and President Calvin Coolidge, both of whom urged the citizens of these United States to pause to celebrate their dads.

But it wasn't until the National Father's Day Committee was founded in 1931 that the Father's Day movement became an organized country-wide tide. (Before then, Father's Day was loosely observed, community by community, without the semblance of national purpose.)

Thus, long before Father's Day was proclaimed a national holiday by Congress, and President Nixon's first Father's Day Proclamation in 1972, most America had embraced the idea as "their own."

Ever since our forefathers landed in Virginia and New England, our fathers have been protectors and guardians of the family, and moral and ethical leaders in our society.

We express our love and caring for our dads in many different ways. Most fathers get a gift. Even more get a greeting card or a special telephone call from the children.

Then, there are millions of backyard cookouts, Sunday afternoon visits, family photographs and dinners on the town.

William Smart, in whose honor Father's Day came to be, passed away in 1919, but not before "his holiday" was accredited by millions of Americans. And his loving daughter, Sonora Smart Dodd, continued to maintain an active and lively interest in the movement she founded until her death in 1978 at the age of 96.

Father's Day is not in jeopardy of decline. In fact, it becomes more popular every year, and now heralds in the real summer season throughout most of the country.

Through peace and war, through prosperity and recession, Father's Day has expanded its appeal. In 1988, Father's Day reaches its zenith of celebration—and its popularity is still on the grow! Don't forget your dad on Sunday, June 19, 1988!

WHOSE FATHER'S FATHER'S DAY IS IT, ANYWAY?

If you do too many things, it's time to Day gifts. Although gift-giving everyday can be appreciated a sturdy stock or hobby-related enjoys?

It was back in 1909 that Mrs. John Bruce Dodd was inspired with the concept of a Father's Day, to honor her own father, who raised a family of six, following the death of his young wife in the waning years of the 19th century.

It took a full year for her idea to gestate, plus a lot of hard work among the ministers of Spokane, Wash. She worked with the Mayor of Spokane, with the YMCA and with other civic organizations.

Although her hope had been to observe the first Father's Day on her father's birthday, which was the first Sunday of June in 1910, the ministers of Spokane had trouble getting their special sermons ready to preach on that day, so Father's Day was postponed until the third Sunday of June in 1910. And that day of observance has never been altered.

Then, in 1971, by Joint Congressional Resolution, Father's Day was enacted into a national holiday, from that time forth always to be observed on the third Sunday of June!

For the record, however, the Father's Day that Congress has recognized, the Father's Day for which Mrs. John Bruce Dodd spent most of her 96 years crusading, is the day we observe today—the third Sunday of every June—a beloved national holiday. This year, Father's Day is Sunday, June 19!

JUNE
19thFOR THE DAD WHO HAS EVERYTHINGJUNE
19th*Sock it to 'em, daddy-o*

THE JOY OF SOCKS! The well-dressed father takes care to look just right from head to toe. If you know a dad who's been neglecting the latter, here's help from the Modulus Collection by Formatt. Their fashionable and comfortable socks come in a variety of interesting patterns including the "Lee Iacocca" sock (far left) and the "Jazz Legacy" (far right), which sports a stylized saxophone on the ankle.

THE DILEMMA OF DADS WITH DRUGS

There is, perhaps, no greater challenge facing today's fathers than the scourge of drugs, so pervasive in our society. The very sound of the word "crack" conjures up visions of self-destruction which strike terror into the hearts of a whole nation.

It is true that the drugs inundating our country are not really the home-grown variety. It is also true, that not millions, but billions of dollars worth of cocaine and heroin and "pot" illegally find their way into our daily lives.

But, if the demand for the drugs were not there, the "pushers" could not create a market for their insidious and destructive products.

But, if ever there were a need for America's fathers to stand up and be counted as the leaders of a sound and sane society, it is now, when drugs from without and addiction from within merge in an assault against the fabric of society.

A father who resorts to drugs is an encouragement to his family to pursue the same course to self-destruction.

A father who involves himself with his family—totally involves himself—by participating in every family activity, is truly a full-time father leader. Such fathers can and do make a difference.

When Father's Day comes around again this year, make your Father's Day Resolution to join the good fight that most of the dads in this country have mounted against today's greatest scourge among young people—drugs!

Gift options to consider

The choice of gifts for dad is so deep and wide it's hard to imagine anyone's being stumped. Confused? Yes! But never without options.

First choice among a panel of consumers surveyed last year was "something to wear." Consider these options:

- Dress shirts;
- Sport shirts;
- Ties;
- Belts;
- Jeans;
- Slacks;
- Swim Trunks;
- Robes;
- Socks;
- Pajamas;
- Underwear;
- Active sportswear;
- Jewelry;
- Watch;
- Wallet.

Next in popularity is the wide range of toiletries, such as:

- Cologne;
- After shave lotion;
- Skin care products.
- Very popular options include:
- Power tools;
- Barbecue utensils;
- Photo gear;
- Fishing tackle;
- Golf equipment;
- Tennis racquet, balls;
- Bicycle.
- If dad is an electronics buff, consider:
- Telephone answering machine;
- Pocket TV set;
- Lap top computer;
- Miniature radio.
- Other good ideas to embrace are:
- Reclining chair;
- Luggage set;
- Brief/attache case.
- And when all else fails:
- Spirit beverages;
- Gift certificate.

Help dad score a hole in one with new VCR gifts

Golf Shots video magazine editor Kevin Wachter suggests that, "sports VCR games like Epyx VCR Golf will satisfy dad's craving for the links on a rainy day."

Any of these gifts for this Father's Day should score a hole in one with dad.

The best for your father on Father's Day

Sunday, June 19, is the one day of the year solely dedicated to fathers all over the country. Fathers are a gifted group of men who are granted with the honorable title of "father" only after they have been given the gift of a son or daughter.

Without fathers, none of us would be here today, and it's only appropriate that we take one day out of the 365 days of the year to remind our fathers just how much we appreciate and love them.

Jewelry is often the way that men express their love to women, and so it seems only appropriate that a woman should return that love in a similar fashion.

"Jewelry is a gift like no other because it lasts a lifetime, and will remind a father of the special love that he enjoys every day of the year," says Joel Karten, president of Karten's Jewelers, New England's largest independent jewelry retailer.

To keep your favorite man up to date with today's fashions, accessorize him with jewelry appropriate for the office or for formal occasions.

Men's jewelry is seen in a variety of metals, and is often accented with the beauty of precious stones, one of the most popular being the diamond.

Napoleon Bonaparte owned the 410-carat Regent Diamond and used it as security against loans. He pawned the diamond in order to finance his armies when conquering Europe and, after paying off the loan, he redeemed the gem in order to have it mounted in his sword for his coronation as Emperor of France in 1804.

The attraction of the diamond is difficult to explain. Men were obsessed with diamonds because they associated the gem's scarcity and beauty with wealth, strength and magic. The stones were often used to raise money or win friends but, most of all, diamonds were bestowed on people as honorable gifts to be worn in jewelry.

As time has passed, the diamond has regained its popularity with men and remains one of the most desirable gems in jewelry designs today.

From a fashion perspective, diamonds have maintained their stylishness through new design applications, thus entering into the men's accessory market.

The diamond, although it may have been jostled around in rocks, pebbles and sand for millions of years, always looks new, which is why a diamond is said to be "forever."

Let the father in your life be reminded of your undying love by adorning him with the gift of diamond jewelry, a gift that will last many lifetimes. Happy Father's Day, dad!

What's in it for dad? Here are ideas to help make his day a great success

If your dad or husband has a closet full of too many ties he never wears, maybe it's time to evaluate your usual Father's Day gifts.

Although hobbies can sometimes be gift-giving clues, something to make everyday chores a little easier also will be appreciated. This June, why not load a sturdy storage container with the tools or hobby-related items that your dad enjoys?

If your dad's a sailor, fill a container with supplies for his next offshore weekend. A waterproof flashlight, foul weather gear, a plastic screw-top pitcher and some special canned treats or pouches of his favorite pipe tobacco all will store easily in one large container.

For fathers with green thumbs, a box full of gardening supplies—hand tools, gloves, stakes, carry caddy, even a good paperback reference book or a farmer's almanac—makes a delightful present.

If dad and his car are an inseparable team, fill a box with gear he has been meaning to buy: A flashlight, flares, jumper cables and other emergency items that come in handy when the nearest garage is miles away.

If you present your gifts in a sturdy, reusable container, then the package automatically becomes a present, too.

Rubbermaid's Rough-Tote™ Containers are made of heavy-duty plastic with tight-fitting lids, ideal for boat, workshop, garage, car, camper or anywhere sturdy and compact storage is required. They come in three convenient sizes.

Not only are the containers durable but since they're waterproof, they make sense for many uses. They can hold clothes, documents, sporting equipment; pet food; garden supplies such as grass seed, flower bulbs and soil; and many other basics for life in and around the home.

Overturned, acid-laden truck blocks interstate traffic

Rush hour traffic was tied up for several hours on Interstate 10 Tuesday afternoon while an overturned freight truck filled with acid was being righted.

The truck, hauling corrosive maleic acid, had overturned in the westbound lane of the interstate near State Highway 607 about 3:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. The driver of the truck, William Pault, 56, of Pensacola, Fla., suffered minor cuts and bruises requiring no treatment.

The driver said the load in the tanker shifted when he swerved to avoid hitting a deer, causing the truck to go onto a soft shoulder and overturn, according to State Trooper Freddy Keel.

Maleic acid, according to John Harper, chief of law enforcement for the Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control, is a relatively harmless industrial acid primarily used to clean metals.

"The only hazard it presents is that it gives off very, very strong fumes and, as in all acids, may cause burns to the skin and mucous membranes," Harper said.

It is only considered poisonous if it is swallowed, he said.

The acid becomes a solid unless it is kept at a warm temperature, so it is usually transported in insulated tank-ers so that it will flow, according to Harper.

Because efforts to transfer to another truck were unsuccessful, solidified acid clogging hoses and valves, officials decided to right the truck with the acid still inside.

"There are two things we have to look at. We like to get the highways open as soon as possible. But we don't ignore safety to do that. The idea is to get it upright without any leakage," Harper explained.

The truck was upright and on its way back to Florida by 6 p.m.

HONEY BEES

Honey bees are swarming in Hancock County. If you need to have them removed, your best resource is to call a beekeeper who may be willing to collect swarms.

If the swarms pose a hazard to humans and animals—and this is a rare occasion—the bees can be sprayed with sevin. Honeybees should not be eradicated from the farm, garden or yard because they are useful insects. Bees help pollinate plants.

Many pesticides used to treat harmful insects are toxic to honey bees. Take care to use the proper dosage of safe pesticides when bees are nearby. Read the label and follow approved recommendations. Consult a beekeeper so that measures can be taken to protect honey bee colonies.

Heat oil in skillet and sauté onions until transparent. Set aside one tablespoon flour. Mix remaining flour with salt and pepper and pound into both sides of beef. Add beef to the skillet and brown well on both sides. Add mustard, Worcestershire, onion soup and water. Cover and simmer two to two and one-half hours, or until meat is tender when pierced with a fork. Remove meat to heated platter. Skim fat from broth. Mix remaining flour with enough water to form a paste and add to broth in pan. Stir to blend. Pour over meat. Serve with buttered small new potatoes dusted with parsley. With this dish I like a salad of lettuce, thinly sliced raw mushrooms, fresh raw spinach, crumbled bacon bits and thin slices of sweet red pepper, tossed with vinaigrette dressing.

Suspended policeman working for Waveland, arson hearing delayed

BY DENA BISNETTE

Preliminary hearings for a Waveland firefighter and the police officer accused of assisting him in a May 25 arson have been delayed two weeks.

During that wait, one of the two accused men is expected to continue working in another city job that Mayor John Longo Jr. said he gave him "out of a sense of fairness and justice."

On Tuesday, County Prosecutor John Genin asked Justice Court Judge Lee Klein for the delays in preliminary hearing for William M. Field III, 26, of 401 St. Jude Street, and Michael E. Prendergast, 25, of 1009 St. Joseph Street.

Genin indicated at that time that the hearings could be moved to Circuit Court prior to the next Justice Court date.

Field and Prendergast, now both on suspension from their respective jobs as firefighter and policeman, are accused in the destruction of a 1986 Ford van that Field owned and allegedly had trouble with regarding payments. The van was apparently reported stolen at about 6 a.m. May 25.

Field was linked to the van, found badly burned in a wooded area near Pearlington, through tag numbers on the vehicle itself and on a car that a person who telephoned the sheriff's office said he saw fleeing the area after he saw a fire or explosion.

Prendergast was allegedly implicated by Field, who reportedly told authorities that the policeman used his patrol car to carry the diesel fuel used to burn the van.

Longo said Prendergast applied for another city job shortly after his suspension and about a week ago he was given the only current opening, a job as a relief garbage truck driver.

He said Field applied for a job last Friday, but no action has been taken on it, largely because there has not been an opening.

The mayor praised Prendergast for contributions to the community through blood drives and work with Special Olympics, as well as for having "the courage to hold his head up high and go on."

"I glory in the fact that a man feels he needs to work. A lot of people would not have done it. This is quite a step down for him as it is."

Longo added, "I don't know what any other mayor would have done. If I were looking at political expediency, I might not have done this, but I don't think that's the case here. At this point, the man is not guilty."

"The way I see it, he had nothing to gain, financially or otherwise, from this."

Longo did say that if Prendergast were convicted of a felony, he would have to resign the city job.

He added that he checked with City Attorney Lucien Gex before hiring Prendergast.

Longo also said that because the two men are facing suspensions at least long enough for the matter to be resolved in court, the police and fire departments have made provisions for replacements.

Tiger Dome site of weekend SAAU basketball action

Southern Amateur Athletic Union is sponsoring a basketball tournament at the Bay High Tiger Dome this weekend.

Teams will consist of players from high schools across south Mississippi and nearby Louisiana.

Participating in the event will be 19 boys teams in two age groups, 17 and under and 15 and under.

The tournament is being hosted by the Bay Hoopster Club, a group of future high school players at Bay High.

The club was formed in order to participate in SAAU competition which required that teams not use school funds or uniforms.

Most club participating this weekend are made up of players from one high school, although a team could consist of any group of young men who wish to join SAAU and follow all its rules and guidelines.

The Bay Hoopsters, who are being sponsored this weekend by Pro Body Shop Supply, Car Parts and Aunt V's Pralines, are inviting basketball fans to come out and watch the action which begins Thursday at 1 p.m. and continues Friday at 11:00 a.m. and Saturday at 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. each night with games beginning every one hour and 20 minutes.

Admission is $1 per person per day.

Local teams play at the following days and time:

—Pro Body Shop Supply (Bay High), Friday at 9 p.m. and Saturday at 9 p.m.

—Bay All Stars (SSC) Friday at 6:20 p.m. and Saturday at 5 p.m.

—D & K Quick Stop (HNC), Saturday at 2:20 p.m.

Huge crowds expected for deep-sea rodeo

The annual Mississippi Deep-Sea Fishing Rodeo, staged from the Gulfport Small Craft Harbor and purported to be the world's largest fishing rodeo, is expected to attract more than a quarter million people July 1-4.

Fish caught in salt water on the Mississippi Sound and the Gulf of Mexico along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, or from fresh water, the rivers, creeks, or ponds to the north for 200 miles are eligible for rodeo prizes.

Registration for individuals is free. And, there is no age limit. Tackle will depend on the angler's preference. Anything hooked off-shore or along the 1,500 miles of banks of fresh water bays, lakes and streams may be entered in the contest.

Many youngsters fish from public piers and the beaches. Sport fishermen and women head for the open water in pleasure crafts, yachts and charter boats. There are 65 fishing camps along the Coast, all located at favorite fishing sites. Many offer every facility for all sport fishermen, including bait, tackle, boats and refreshments. Charter boats are available at every town.

The 25 fish categories are:

Salt Water—blue fish, blue marlin, bonita, black fish, barracuda, dolphin, flounder, gar, jack crevalle, lemon fish, red fish, red snapper, sail fish, speckled trout, spanish mackerel, king mackerel, tarpon, tuna, white marlin and wahoo.

Fresh Water—bluegill perch, catfish, green trout, shell crack, perch and white perch.

Throughout the rodeo there is free entertainment, as well as carnival rides and shows. A free fireworks display will be held at 9 p.m., July 4.

League hosts fair

Waveland Little League will host its annual fair and baseball tournament Saturday and Sunday, June 18 and 19 at Elwood Bourgeois Memorial Park on Central Avenue.

Live music will be provided both days.

Food will range from hot dogs, hamburgers, nachos, gumbo, fried fish to barbecued and fried chicken.

Games and activities including pony rides, space walk, dart games, bingo, raffles and others.

A Fun in The Sun contest will be held Saturday for girls, newborn to eight years old, and on Sunday for girls nine to 18 years old and boys newborn to five years old.

The dress is sportswear, and the winners will receive trophies.

The entry fee is $10. Anyone interested may call 467-7341.

Daphne Necaise signs with PRC

Pearl River Community College women's basketball coach Polly Kirkland recently signed five area high school standouts.

Kirkland signed Sharon Maxwell of Forrest County AHS, Gwen Stringer of Prentiss Christian, Daphne Necaise of Hancock North Central, Charlene Silas, Hattiesburg High and Jennifer Lossett of Pearl River Central High.

Maxwell is a 5'6 guard who averaged 10 points, 6 rebounds and 6 steals per game in making the All-Division 15-AAA team.

Stringer, a 5-7 guard, was the Most Valuable Player of Academy South 1A and played in the Mississippi Academy All-Star game.

Necaise, a 5-10 forward, averaged 18 points and 7 rebounds and was a member of the All-Division 8-AAAA team.

Kirkland had previously signed Charlene Silas of Hattiesburg High and Jennifer Lossett of Pearl River Central.

"We haven't signed any out-of-staters but are waiting on some really good ones," Kirkland said. "We are waiting on three or four. We feel like we've got a real good group from within the district. This is probably all the district players we'll sign, maybe one more, along with three or four out-of-staters."

PRCC finished 20-9 and advanced to the Region 23 tournament last season.

"It will be difficult to replace two of our starters from last year's team," said Kirkland, who is finishing up her first season at the helm of Lady Cats basketball.

Norma Pendarvis a 6' center who averaged 13 points and shooting guard Michelle Dorsey, who averaged 12 points are both graduating.

"We do have three starters returning," said Kirkland, "and that should be enough familiar faces to make everything blend successfully."

HNC's Ladner, Saucier sign with Pearl River

Pearl River College coach Peter Georgian says it will be difficult to replace the four starters he lost off of last year's 12-10 basketball team.

Especially, when you consider all-American Adrian McCray and the league's leading assist man, Thomas Foster are both graduating. Maurice Dozier, the Cats' starting center and Wes Dedeaux, the team's second leading scorer, are also finishing up.

"We are returning several players who gained valuable playing experience," said Georgian. "We also had a solid recruiting year." Returning players include Oak Grove's Scott Waldrop (6'2) and Jemal McSwain (6'7) and Georgia product Wendell Carter (6'5). Carter's high school teammates, Darold Hill (6'2) and Andrew Neely (6'9) were in school this past year but did not play for the Wildcats.

Recruits Georgian has signed this year include Jamie Graham (6'1) and Terry Williams (6'4) of Picayune; Craig Ladner (6'4) and Bronson Saucier of

Hancock North Central; Joe Paylor (6'0) of Hattiesburg, Alonzo Ward (6'2) of Forrest County AHS and Terrell Walker (6'5) of Prentiss High.

The only new out-of-state recruit signed is Horace Washington (6'3) of Covington High in Louisiana.

"We lost four very good district players to Division I colleges," said Georgian. "But, with the individuals returning and new recruits I feel confident about the coming season."

Coach Georgian and PRC Lady Cat's coach Polly Kirkland were coaches in the Mississippi Community Junior College All-Star game.

Norma Pendarvis a 6' center who averaged 13 points and shooting guard Michelle Dorsey, who averaged 12 points are both graduating.

"We do have three starters returning," said Kirkland, "and that should be enough familiar faces to make everything blend successfully."

July 1 to bring new boating law

JACKSON—Come July 1, Mississippi boat owners will find several new regulations taking effect. These changes are an effort to make waterways across the Magnolia State safer and more enjoyable for all.

One change will be in boat registration costs. Starting July 1 registration costs for boats less than 16 feet will be $5. Boats from 16 feet but less than 26 feet will cost $15 to register.

A $30 registration fee will be required on craft 26 feet and over. A dealer number will cost $25, and a duplicate registration number will be $5, according to the Department of Wildlife Conservation in Jackson.

"Some of the new funds raised by the fee increase will enable our department to conduct more marine and inland water safety patrol work, which is an area that many boaters have cried for help in to curb abuse by some unethical boaters," executive director Vernon Bevill said.

These fees will apply to all original registrations, transfers, renewals, livery, dealer, and duplicates. Registrations will continue to be good for two years.

Another major boating law revision involves sailboats. Beginning July 1 all sailboats must be registered and numbered.

Bevill said that these vessels have always come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Wildlife Conservation for compliance with safety regulations, and now they will pay their fair share of these costs.

Also starting July 1, every person 12 years of age or under on board a motorboat, sailboat, or vessel under 26 feet long must wear a type I, II, or III

Coast Guard approved personal flotation device while the craft is underway.

Officials say this should greatly lessen the chances that young children will lose their lives if they are aboard a vessel involved in a boating accident or incident.

In addition to these changes, a number of revisions were made during the last Legislative session increasing the fines and penalties for various boating law violations.

Bay teacher's idea for French lessons becomes video pilot

BY DENA BISNETTE

A pilot television program for the teaching of French in elementary grades, based on a Bay St. Louis teacher's concept, has been developed by Louisiana State University in cooperation with Louisiana Public Broadcasting.

Kathryn Edwards, a Louisiana native who has been teaching French since 1969, said she had the idea of using an animated television program to teach the language's basic concepts for several years.

The main reason for her idea was a need. "There were not enough teachers, but there was a desire to learn the language," she explained.

About two years ago, Edwards made the contact that eventually made the project a reality, meeting Dr. Kay Martin of the LSU Department of French and Italian, who was serving as chair of the board of Louisiana Public Broadcasting.

Martin, who eventually became project director for the pilot, introduced Edwards to Ken Fowler, a Louisiana Public Broadcasting producer.

Several months later, Fowler heard about special funding available through the U.S. Department of Education Secretary's Discretionary Fund for Critical Languages.

He contacted Martin to see if Edwards still wanted to do the pilot and they applied for about $15,000. Out of 160 applicants, the project was selected as 14th of the 20 actually awarded grants in August 1987.

Edwards then began shuttling back and forth between Bay St. Louis and Baton Rouge, mostly on weekends but sometimes on professional leave days she was granted by the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District, to work on the pilot.

The pilot teaches the sounds of the French alphabet using the voices of three children, all native speakers of French, who are from France, Belgium and Canada. The animated program also uses original music by Edwards and Bob Sanchez of Baton Rouge, La.

"Working with the children was fun. It was a lot of work to make the pilot but I enjoyed it," the teacher said.

Edwards said she wrote the scripts for the program, then drew the original story boards. One of her more interesting trips in conjunction with the project was to Denver, Colo., where she watched the creation of the animation on computers.

Designed primarily for use by a non-French-speaking teacher but also usable as supplementary material in classes taught by certified French language teachers, the series includes 25 programs on basic language three to high school seniors, said the videos are designed primarily for elementary school children but could be used on other levels.

"The student would have to be able to read to use the workbook, but younger ones could pick up the sounds of the language by watching the program," she explained.

Edwards said that once the 30 parts of the series has been completed in French, plans call for adapting it to Spanish and to teaching English to speakers of other languages.

She also hopes to eventually arrange for the program to be used on Mississippi Educational Television and in other areas.

KATHRYN M. EDWARDS

concepts and five programs on cultural events that use actual film segments of cultural and holiday events in French-speaking countries.

The pilot was tested in May in a number of Louisiana schools after teachers attended a workshop to familiarize themselves with the methodology of the 30-part program as well as the accompanying printed material.

Locally, Debbie Moran, a sixth grade language arts teacher who had traveled to Baton Rouge with Edwards to attend the workshop, tested the pilot on a group of Bay Junior High students.

Although only a preliminary report is in, indications are that the program was well-received, Edwards said.

The program is designed to be used on three levels, making it possible to use the same set of videos for three years' study.

Once the remaining programs are completed, students can be presented with vocabulary on subjects such as greetings, family members, colors, animals, food, sports, body parts, clothing and weather.

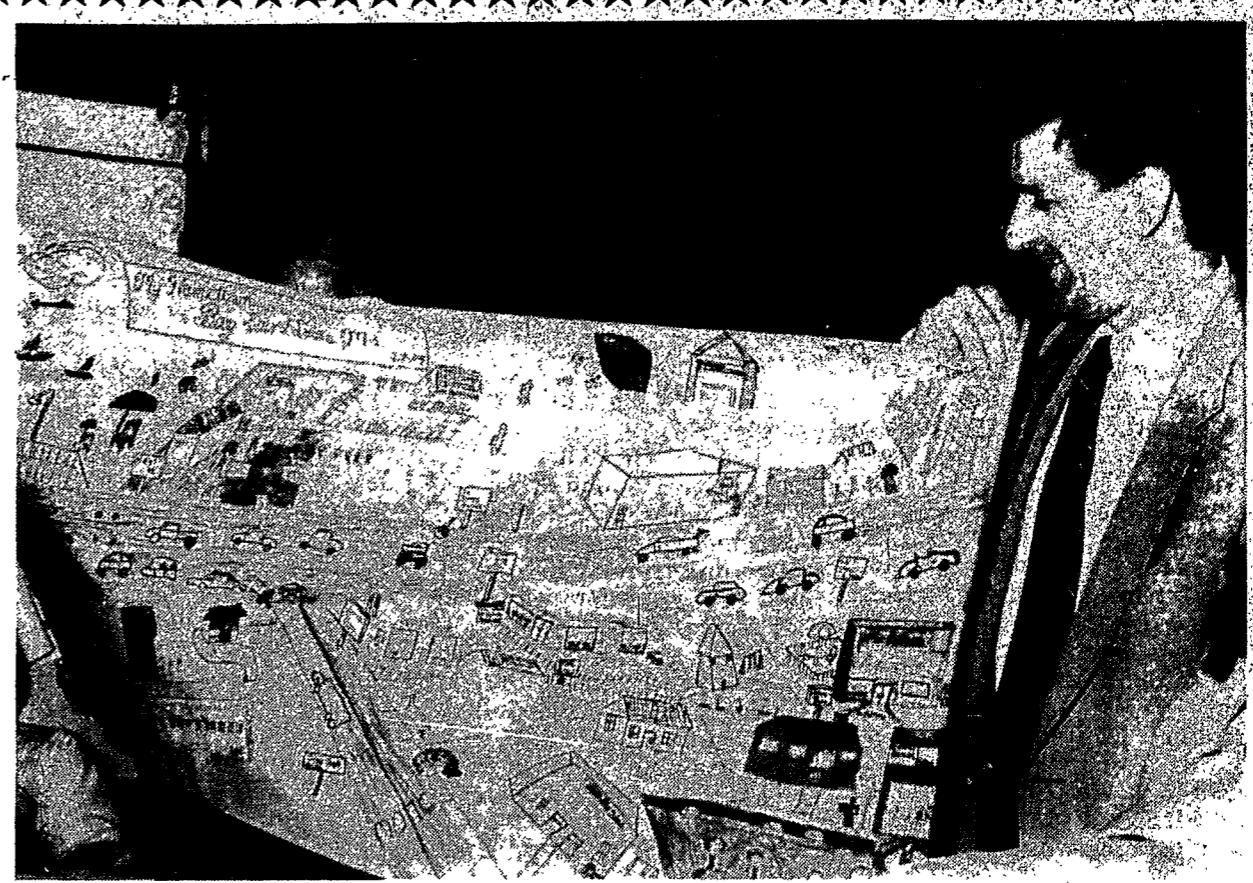

Edwards, who has taught French to students from age

three to high school seniors, said the videos are designed primarily for elementary school children but could be used on other levels.

"The student would have to be able to read to use the workbook, but younger ones could pick up the sounds of the language by watching the program," she explained.

Edwards said that once the 30 parts of the series has been completed in French, plans call for adapting it to Spanish and to teaching English to speakers of other languages.

She also hopes to eventually arrange for the program to be used on Mississippi Educational Television and in other areas.

New principal named at Coast Elementary

Coast Episcopal Schools Headmaster Thomas E. Bates has announced the selection of Ms. Betsy Grant as principal of Coast Episcopal Elementary School in Bay St. Louis.

Ms. Grant, who graduated from the University of North Carolina with a bachelor of arts degree and earned a master's of education degree from Loyola University in New Orleans, most recently was employed as director of studies for the elementary school at Isidore Newman School in New Orleans.

Being familiar with the school through her own child, Ms. Grant says that Coast Episcopal offers a unique program of learning for children beyond what most schools can offer. She said that at Coast Episcopal, small classes and a close family-like atmosphere encourage students to be independent and to develop high self-esteem and confidence in themselves.

The curriculum is very challenging and comprehensive, but Ms. Grant adds that some changes are being implemented for next year. The math teachers at the elementary and junior high school will be attending workshops in New Orleans and on the Coast and the math program will put greater emphasis on thinking and problem solving with hands-on concrete experience, not just memorization, said Grant.

Plans also include expanding the computer program started last fall and more fully implementing it into everyday classroom usage for classes kindergarten through the third grade.

The language arts program for all grades will be expanded and take the children out of just the basal readers and incorporate the classics in children's literature into all area of reading and writing.

The science and social studies departments will move out of the text books and will use more hands-on experiences to bring the subjects into the students' everyday lives. The

Pass Christian juniors show gains in literacy

Juniors in the Pass Christian School District made giant gains on the Functional Literacy Test this year.

All 100 percent passed reading this year compared to 84 percent last year.

In mathematics only two percent failed, compared to 30 percent last year.

School officials are pleased with the results of the test and with the success of the program to prepare at-risk students.

For students to graduate in June of 1989, they must pass the Functional Literacy Test, which measures reading, mathematics and written communication.

The passing score is an average of 70 percent of all three sections with no score being below 60 percent.

Scores have been released only for reading and mathematics. Composite and written communication scores will be released in August.

In May, 1987, all sophomores were given a practice test to determine students who were at risk of failing the Functional Literacy Test. These students were offered remediation classes during the lunch hour and in an after school tutoring program.

In addition, basic skills were reviewed for all juniors in the General Math classes and even in the advanced math classes, such as Algebra II. Many of the advanced math students had not been taught basic skills since the middle school.

Remedial classes will be offered this summer to students who failed the mathematics test. They will be able to take the test again in August, Dec. and next April.

Pass students improve basic skills

The Pass Christian Public School District administers the Basic Skills Assessment Program to all students in grades three, five and eight.

These tests are given in the areas of reading, mathematics, and written communication to determine if students are mastering basic, or minimum, skills. As can be seen from the table below, Pass Christian

Students made gains in nearly every area of the test.

The scores in the table represent the percentage that students correctly answered for a particular area of the test. For instance, in third grade reading in 1987 students correctly answered 89.8 percent of the questions asked. In 1988 the third grade students correctly answered 91.3 percent of the questions. The third grade class of 1988 showed a 1.5 percent gain over the class of 1987.

The greatest single gain was made in written communication by the eighth grade class. The greatest total gain was recorded by the fifth grade with 3.3 percent points gain in reading and 3.2 points gain made in written communications.

The Basic Skills Assessment Program measures how well students as a whole are learning basic skills. The results are used by teachers and administrators to analyze program strengths and weaknesses and to determine ways to improve performance.

BETSY GRANT

teachers will be using the many resources available to them on the coast, said Grant, to offer a wider variety of activities to the classes.

Offering a consistent environment where children will feel good about themselves is my primary goal, said Ms. Grant. She said she will stress to the faculty the importance of finding out where a child is academically and then taking him to where he is capable of stretching and reaching for more knowledge without stress and frustration.

Parents interested in more information on Coast Episcopal Elementary School are encouraged to meet Ms. Grant any weekday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The school is located at 912 South Beach Boulevard behind Christ Episcopal Church. Please call 467-5125 for an appointment.

West participates in science semester

OAK RIDGE, Tenn.—Charlie West, a junior at Millsaps College, was one of eight participants in this spring's Southern College/University Union Science Semester at Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

ORNL, one of the nation's largest federal multipurpose production, research, and development centers, is among five major facilities managed by Martin Marietta Energy Systems, Inc., for the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE).

Funds were provided by DOE through its University-Laboratory Cooperative Program. Participants were students and faculty from the Southern College/University Union (SCUU), a consortium of eight liberal arts institutions in Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The 16-week science semester provided opportunities for student research and advanced study in energy-related areas of science and technology, including the biomedical, environmental, and physical sciences; nuclear and engineering technologies; applied mathematics; and advanced energy systems.

In addition to hands-on research under the guidance of senior ORNL technical staff members, the program also included weekly seminars and a course conducted by the SCUU director, for which participants received a semester's credit.

West was assigned to ORNL's Environmental Sciences Division where he performed research to determine the transport, fate, and availability of contaminants in aquatic systems.

Biology major from Waveland, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. West, 100 Ballview Lane.

OLA stages May Crowning and Ring Ceremony

Each year during May, the students at Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis present a May Day Crowning.

The students gathered in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Sister Jacqueline Howard, principal of OLA, in her opening statements, spoke on her feelings about mother. She said, "I loved my mother. I am who I am because of my mother. Jesus loved His Mother." She welcomed the students to the May Crowning and reminded them that "Jesus' Mother, Mary, is the Patroness of the school."

The seniors progressed down the center aisle wearing their white graduation gowns. The students lead the service with songs and scripture readings.

Father Peter Mockler, pastor of OLG, spoke on the importance of Mary's life. He remarked that "Mary is a marvelous model and inspiration for all of us." Senior Marla Kelly placed the wreath of flowers on the statue of Mary.

Jan Scardino, Student Council president, began the Ring Ceremony with her statements about the symbol of the class ring which passes "leadership, responsibility, courage, friendship, and most of all love" from the Senior Class to the Juniors, the class of 1989.

Kerry Merrigan, Junior Class president, accepted the responsibilities and challenges from the Senior Class of 1988.

After the blessing of the rings, each junior was individually presented her ring by a selected senior. The services ended with a closing prayer and blessing followed by the seniors and juniors recessing out of the church.

PREPARING to place the wreath of flowers on the statue of Mary is Senior Marla Kelly while her classmate, Crystal Davidson, watches.

TAKE OFF POUNDS</

A state-to-state variable situation

Interest grows about groundwater contamination

By Barry W. Jones
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

In a state like Mississippi where more than 90 percent of the population depends on groundwater as their source of drinking water, people share a keen interest in anything that might affect water quality.

This interest is now beginning to focus on the potential for contamination of groundwater from the use of agricultural chemicals.

The concern is valid because a number of pesticides, if present in large enough quantities in water, are suspected to cause a variety of health problems, ranging from eye and skin irritation to cancer.

In its May, 1987 issue, EPA Journal reported that more than half the adults in a 1986 Iowa poll identified farm chemicals as the biggest threat to the water they drink.

Some states such as Florida have been forced to take action because of contamination of groundwater. EPA Journal also reported that Florida has shut down more than a thousand wells as drinking water sources because of contamination by ethylene dibromide (EDB). The EPA estimated in 1986 that at least 17 pesticides have been found in the wells of 23 states.

Because other states are having problems does not mean with problems including bacterial contamination of home wells, leaking underground gas storage tanks; improper application, disposal and storage of chemicals; and septic system malfunctions.

The areas of the state where the potential for groundwater contamination from agricultural chemicals is greatest is on the loess soils in Southwest Mississippi and the sandier soils of South Mississippi.

Thomas said Mississippi is fortunate in that those areas are not major agricultural production areas in the state, reducing the likelihood that contamination might occur.

Thomas said the Delta, availability of groundwater. She said the potential for contamination from agricultural pesticide use is just one of a number of concerns.

She said the state must deal with large agricultural enterprises are underway, has the benefit of the heavy, less penetrable clay soils as a protection against leaching.

The concept that much of the nation's groundwater has a natural shield in the form of subsoil, rock and clay is a long-held position taken by geologists and engineers. The concept has been a cornerstone of water quality protection strategies, and it has guided the development of chemical use in this country, especially agricultural chemical use.

In recent years, however, the position has come under scrutiny by the Environmental Protection Agency because it is being challenged by some geologists.

Fueling the challenge was the discovery of the pesticide dibromochloropropane (DBCP) in about 2,500 California wells and in the groundwater of four other states as well in the early 1980s.

Discovery of other pesticide-contaminated wells in California, Georgia and other states in 1982 and 1983 has raised concerns about pesticide leaching into groundwater to new levels. Those concerns also extend to Mississippi.

Concern over contamination and pressure from environmental groups has led the EPA to develop a Groundwater Protection Strategy. The aim of this strategy, according to Jerry Kotas, EPA's head of the National Pesticide Survey, is to compile information on the extent and nature of the problem nationally and to seek solutions through research to solve them.

Kotas said the cornerstone of the strategy is prevention because cleanup of contaminated groundwater is extremely costly.

The EPA effort to compile that information was brought to Mississippi in late April when public and private wells were tested in Clarke and Greene Counties. The tests are part of a national testing program. However, test results from the Mississippi samples taken will not be available for months.

If contamination is found

Groundwater testing could alter farm pesticide use

By Ralph Braseth and Barry W. Jones
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Environmental Protection Agency groundwater testing of domestic wells in George and Clarke counties in late April may signal a new eye-opening era of pesticide vigilance for farmers in Mississippi.

Groundwater quality issues have far-reaching implications for farmers nationally, and since Mississippi is the first site to be tested, the state may provide the opening salvo in a long and complex debate about which agricultural chemicals can be used by farmers.

Agriculture depends heavily on the use of agricultural chemicals, and the agri-chemical industry claims that continued use of these chemicals are essential to allow agriculture to remain productive and competitive.

Concerns about pesticide availability in the state are balanced against the fact that more than 90 percent of the Mississippi population depends on groundwater as its source of drinking water. Wells found to be significantly contaminated with pesticides could result in certain chemicals being banned or severely restricted.

"We have a tremendous amount of interest in the project (testing of wells) throughout the state," said Robert McCarty, deputy-director of the State Department of Agriculture Division of Plant Industry.

McCarty said the general public has an interest from the standpoint that their drinking water is free from pesticides, and farmers are concerned that they continue to have access to these materials.

McCarty said, finding any pesticides in Mississippi groundwater could lead to a total ban on all pesticides or discontinued use of some materials.

"We would hope that would not happen if we could eliminate the problem through use changes or label changes or changes in rates of applications of materials if they are found in the water," he said.

"Mississippi ran seventh in the United States in pesticide use," said Ruth Morgan, pesticide impact assessment specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "While no cases of agricultural-use pesticide contamination in groundwater have yet been reported, pesticides used in our state are the same ones which have been found to contaminate groundwater in other states."

Morgan said the Extension Service is working on educational materials designed to help all Mississippi residents including farmers do a better job of monitoring pesticide use in relation to wells or other potential sites where these materials might leak into the groundwater.

into groundwater. Results of the survey, however, will not be available for months.

"The survey is not intended to describe conditions in any one county or any one state," Kotas said. "We're not taking enough samples in Mississippi to describe pesticide effects on groundwater in the state."

To try and get at the overall effect of pesticides on Mississippi groundwater through a monitoring and protection program will be the task of the Mississippi Department of Natural Resources. The department is scheduled to begin the survey sometime this year. The survey is expected to lead the state to set standards for pesticides that appear on EPA lists.

Mississippi's monitoring and protection program is one of a number of state strategies to head off general EPA rules and regulations, which some state officials fear will not encompass fairly conditions in their states.

Other states that have passed laws similar to the Mississippi monitoring and protection program include Wisconsin, California, Iowa, Nebraska and Florida.
